PRODUCING ROCKETS, TANKS -- Mannheim, Ostatnie Wiadomosci, 6 Sep 50

Bonn -- Refugees from Soviet Zone Germany state that the Montania factories in Nordhausen, metal factories in Harzgerode, and the SAG Lindner in Halle are reportedly producing rocket (V-2) projectiles. Grenades, bombs, and ammunition for various purposes are being produced at present in Wulkow, Toepchin, Gnaschwitz, Torgau, Schonebeck, and Erkner.

Factories in Riesa, Bautzen, and Eisenach are said to be producing tanks, motors for tanks, and armor plate. Aircraft engines and other aircraft parts are being produced in the Junkers, Bramag, and Neestler plants.

SAYS WEST GERMAN GOODS GO TO USSR -- Mannheim, Ostatnie Wiadomosci, 20 Aug 50

On the subject of West German re-exports to the Soviet Union, the Kritik der Zeit, a weekly newspaper published in Frankfurt, made the following observation:

"Thirty-five percent of the exports from West Germany to the Soviet Zone go directly to the Soviet Union. The rest is processed in East Germany and is eventually sent to the Soviet Union as reparations. Only an insignificant part remains in the Eastern Zone."

Jozef Orlop, chief of the East German Trade Commission, boasted publicly that "we receive all kinds of products from the West, everything that we need."

The border between the zones is long, the nights are dark, the roads are good, and there are many scoundrels and fools in the West who eagerly convey the supplies to the enemy.

The following transaction is a good example of this: A certain Hamburg firm purchased the greater part of the American war surplus telegraph wire, at a greatly reduced price. This wire was subsequently received by a West Berlin dealer who sold it to the Soviet Army.

The Soviet Bismuth Corporation (Wismut Gesellschaft), which mines uranium for the Soviet Union, recently ordered through West Berlin 1,000 tons of lead and 500 tons of copper. This, too, will eventually be supplied by the Americans.
